XL solutions GmbH looks back on a successful first year. The multi-media company from Düsseldorf, has since the beginning, provided internationally residential customers with the hire of media technology and AV planning service at leading exhibitions world-wide.

Renault has commissioned XL solutions as its service provider in the hiring of media technology for international exhibitions. This includes the complex installation of Chromatek or Barco LED screens with HDTV feed- in at international exhibitions e.g. the IAA in Frankfurt, Tokyo, Bologna, Brussels, Leipzig and Geneva. Hanging and standing variation, as well as concave video screens were installed and started by highly qualified employees. This included several plasmas, projectors, computers and further equipment.

The creative ideas of the Swiss agency Bellprat were put in the hands of XL solutions GmbH, and they advised and worked out the media technology necessary for a very emotional exhibition presentation in connection with a complicated show control for Opel at the IAA in Frankfurt and in Geneva.

XL solutions not only hire out media technology but also carry out complicated fixed-installations and AV programming.
